

Securing Your Precious Rings

Protecting Your Rings

You and your partner both have financial and emotional attachments to your wedding rings.

And with wedding expenses quickly adding up, it might be impossible to replace a missing or stolen ring at the last minute.

Consider Supplemental Coverage

If you think your homeowners or renters insurance may not offer enough coverage for your engagement and wedding rings, you may want to consider protecting your investment with a supplemental policy.

Rings made with metals or stones that are considered less precious may not need additional coverage.

You should review your property policy to see if it offers enough coverage.

Understanding Limitations

Most standard property policies have dollar limitations on certain categories of personal property such as:

- Jewelry
- Guns
- Silverware
- Furs
- Money
- Electronics
- Collectibles, like comic books, sports cards, etc.
- Fine art
